Subscription and Booking Cancellation Policy

SmartBridge FET | Tech & GUARD (Pty) Ltd
Version 1.1-draft | Prepared 14 October 2026

DRAFT FOR OWNER AND SOUTH AFRICAN LEGAL REVIEW. This document is not yet an activated contract. Registered business address and company registration details must be confirmed before paid public trading. Support: aneleq@techandguard.co.za.

Subscription fees

Subscription fees pay for the selected service/access period and contribute to server hosting, database operation, security, maintenance, support and other services that keep the app working. They are ordinarily non-refundable for change of mind once the paid service has commenced. Cancellation of renewal stops future charges in line with disclosed renewal terms; it does not automatically reverse an already supplied period. These fees are not an indefinite personal-data-storage fee and do not override privacy/deletion obligations.

Mandatory rights take precedence

This policy does not exclude applicable cooling-off, fixed-term cancellation, unfair-term, non-supply, defective-service, duplicate/unauthorised-payment or other statutory remedies. Where law requires a refund, the company will honour it. Any early-start consent must be separate, informed and recorded; a general checkbox is not assumed to remove every cooling-off right.

Tutor booking fees: at least 24 hours' notice

A paid booking cancelled at least 24 hours before its scheduled start is eligible for a full booking-fee refund. The server measures the exact interval using the session's South African time; cancellation exactly 24 hours beforehand qualifies. Submit the in-app cancellation and write a message informing the tutor that you are cancelling, allowing them to rearrange their day. The message and cancellation timestamp are recorded. A queued or failed email does not invalidate an otherwise timely recorded cancellation or make the learner responsible for an email-provider failure.

Later cancellations, tutor cancellation and non-delivery

Later cancellations and no-shows are not automatically granted a change-of-mind refund, but must be reviewed for reasonable actual loss, mitigation/rebooking and statutory exceptions. No blanket forfeiture is imposed. Death or hospitalisation affecting the booked beneficiary receives the protection required by law. Do not request detailed medical records through public messages; use a secure minimal-evidence review. A tutor/company cancellation or failure to deliver a booked service is referred for full booking-fee refund when payment was received. Unpaid bookings have no money to return.

Processing and loss prevention

Refund eligibility is not proof of completed repayment. Refund only the amount actually collected, once, against the original payment/booking reference and normally through the original payment method where practicable. Do not refund subscription revenue as if it were a booking payment. Do not mark a booking refunded or release an associated tutor payout until settlement is verified. Keep an audit trail and reconcile chargebacks to avoid duplicate reimbursement. Do not deduct undisclosed penalties or use processing costs to defeat a mandatory full refund. Contact support with your reference; provider timelines and applicable statutory deadlines will be communicated during review.